Celebrating Wise Women

A National Gathering sponsored by CRONES COUNSEL, INC.

- Honoring the value of older women’s wisdom and accomplishments.
- Encouraging the personal empowerment of women.
- Fostering understanding across diverse perspectives of age, ethnicity, race, sexual orientation, and spirituality.
- Promoting equality among all persons.

To experience a wise women gathering is to enter an atmosphere of safety, acceptance, encouragement, celebration, and support. Storytelling — both in the large group and in smaller circles, is the centerpiece of each gathering. Other highlights include the Honoring of the Elders ceremony, Follies, varied workshops, and a marketplace featuring women-crafted arts, publications, and other vendor wares.

For more information about Crones Counsel, Inc., check out the website at www.cronescounsel.org. The website contains information about the national organization, as well as the national gatherings. Our address is Crones Counsel, Inc., P.O. Box 485, Ekalaka, MT 59324.

SEPT 27-OCT 1, 2006

Our 14th National Gathering will be held in Boulder, Colorado, at the Millennium Harvest House Hotel.

Our theme is “CRONES JOURNEY” and the gathering is coordinated by Colorado Crones from several local circles.
Crones Counsel XIV
“CRONES JOURNEY”
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27 – SUNDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2006
Millennium Harvest House Hotel
Boulder, Colorado

Journey with sister Crones to exciting Colorado for our fourteenth Crones Counsel. In the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, we will continue to travel on our path to better self-understanding, insights, enjoyment, and companionship.

Our theme, “Crones Journey,” will help us focus on our individual and group search for our truth. The spiral symbolizes our journey; the three moons: maiden, mother, crone; the three birds: our journey, which continues from Counsel to Counsel; the mountains: our destination; the woman: a crone. We will use our storytelling time, our workshops, forums, circles, and other ritual events to help us on that journey.

We have added an extra day, in response to the overwhelming request for it by last year’s participants, to give us a longer experience to “fill our backpacks” and our “water bottles” with crone wisdom. Late September/early October is a wonderful time in Colorado — usually warm and sunny, with a touch of Fall in the trees and flowers. Layers of clothing are needed in case there is a chill in the air.

The Millennium Hotel, located in downtown Boulder, is near the famous “Pearl Street Mall,” the University of Colorado, and with a view of the “Flatirons” and the rest of the foothills of the Rockies. The Hotel has made available the opportunity to come early, or stay after (three days either side), at the conference rate for rooms to see more of Boulder, its surrounding area, and other places in Colorado. [Rate: $105 single/double per night; taxes additional. The conference rate is only guaranteed through September 1, 2006 so make your reservation soon AFTER you’ve registered for Crones Counsel XIV.]

Register now by contacting Arlene Madsen at asmadsen@earthlink.net, or telephone her 816/330-4045. The cost of registration is $150 for members, $165 for non-members from now through August 15, 2006. [After that, the amounts will be: $190 for members, $200 for non-members.]

Rocky Mountain Crones

“She was born in the middle of her 50-something year
Comin’ home to a place she’d always been before
She kept yesterday right with her, and the future right ahead
You might say she has the key to every door.”

“She’s a Colorado Rocky Mountain Crone
No matter where she goes, she knows she’s always home
Friends and family in her heart, in person, mail or phone
Rocky Mountain Crone (Colorado)”

“She’s climbed cathedral mountains, or trekked the malls below
Her heart can see as far as one can see
And they say that she gets crazy now while drawing down the moon
She drums and dances, sings her memories”

“She’s a Colorado Rocky Mountain Crone
She has earth and fire burning in her heart
She says what’s on her mind to all
And in public she will fart
Rocky Mountain Crone (Colorado)”

“She walks in quiet solitude or sings with voice unchecked
Choosing grace and joy instead of hate and strife
Making more her power and wisdom known to all who haven’t heard
That getting older only gives more life”

“And her life is full of wonder and simplicity and love
She knows herself and understands her role
She knows that she can change the world with a gesture and a smile
She can now do anything that feeds her soul”

“She’s a Colorado Rocky Mountain Crone
Yes, she’s seen it raining fire in the sky
With high altitude and lack of air ’round here we’re always high
Rocky Mountain Crone (Colorado)”
President's Message
by Sharon Hoery

Time. Time has been such an illusion for me these past few months. Not having enough time to accomplish all the things I would like to get done. Being pulled in so many directions that it seems like I only get started on something and some other “must” is placed on the table. Then again, the inner voice says “priorities.” Let go of all the “shoulds” and focus on those pieces of self that sustain and fulfill your life. Now it is here that some shifting and shaking is required. Let go of exchanges where the exchange is not in equanimity. You know the ones that just take and suck from your vital life source. Parasites that take because they know you will get it done but are back again and again. So it is time to sort, what has priority and what are my imagined needs to be done?

Family has always played a sizable amount of time in my life. And now there is the joy of my grandchildren. I am blessed with having all four grandchildren living close. This is one of the reasons we moved last December. In caring for my mother, the choice I see is in my attitude: choosing versus having to. Then I realized the time that has been devoted to Crones Counsel, Inc. It seemed so natural for me to want to serve as a board member, for there is no other conference, meeting, or gathering that is like Crones Counsel. When I accepted the vacant position of Treasurer on the Board, I entered the belief and vision of being a part of something that was so much bigger than self.

I did not hesitate when asked to serve on the Crones Counsel Board, to meet and work with very talented and experienced women. That was in 2001. Did it prove true? Have I met and worked with very talented and experienced women? Absolutely! Being pushed to the limit, having been in awe of their brilliance, being perplexed when communication was not used and smallness overtook greatness. No one gets it right all the time. But what you have in the Board is a group of women who volunteer their time and often personal funds as well.

Even though time is so precious in all our lives, what is it that eight women were willing to travel across the country this spring to assure that Crones Counsel will continue? Each member brings her own talents and expertise to these meetings and her own reasons for giving precious time. There are multiple tasks that are done all year long and even before this Board met many hours of time had been devoted to the completion of these tasks. And maybe this year for me, through moving, Mother having a heart attack, Mother back in the hospital, and my own personal illnesses, prior commitments plus my commitment to Crones Counsel, I realized that no matter how many Board members there are, Crones Counsel is only made strong by each woman who attends the gatherings and volunteers her time and thoughts to make this organization strong.

It will be your voices, your willingness to put out flyers that invite others to join our Celebration of Wise Women — your willingness to say, “Yes! I can help.” Crones Counsel, Inc., is such a unique experience, and with (as one crone said, which seems to fit) “Total Acceptance.”

Becoming Crone
by Beth Morris

Introspection comes when the shadow of the old woman darkens my days. I am slowly drawn into the web of my Shadow, my dark side. She brings with Her the insistence that I become complete; that I resolve the last of the old stories that still haunt me. As an old woman, claiming Crone, I must do this for my continued spiritual growth. I am Crone. Maiden and Mother I have been. Now is the time of the Crone.

Along with the blessed acceptance of my Crone years, comes again my Shadow Self; the dark side I had wished not to see. It is in this time that I must accept all of myself, both the light and the dark.

My Shadow has been with me since my beginning. She is the holder of all the things I wish I had not done, the regrets of taking for granted those people who loved me and whom I loved, the opportunities offered, which I airily dismissed. And my children ... ah, my blessed children who were witness to that dark side as life unfolded.

One October in the little town of Kingsport, Tennessee, I encountered these Crone women. The place was jumping. Other guests at the hotel were peeking in the door to see who was having all this fun. Some members of a wedding party grabbed drums and rattles and joined us — for a while. Then they became self-conscious and sheepishly put down the drums and rattles — embarrassed at being so free. These young people.

But Crone women aren’t self-conscious. Here were all these good-looking old women filled with light, telling bawdy jokes, wearing “witchey” clothes, and drumming and dancing and telling tales; these others — these Crones. There was aliveness in that room — a Celebration.

So, it is appropriate that I go to be with my Sister Crones in the Fall of the year. As the Earth turns her face away from the Sun, I find myself withdrawing into myself — contemplating what is left of my life, making peace with my other self, my Shadow self. I am strengthened for the work ahead, being with my Crone Sisters, by the joy, the love, the feeling of kinship with the women there; we all have our dark sides, we all have our stories. As women, many are common stories.

As the leaves turn and I begin to feel the sadness of the coming season, my Shadow self comes, sending me into solitude and meditation. I welcome her, knowing that our work is almost done. When I have made my peace with Her, I will truly have become my true self — my Crone self.

CRONETIMES BY SUBSCRIPTION

At the spring Crones Counsel Board meeting held in Colorado in April of this year the members of the Board took a very long look at our financial responsibilities to you our members and decided that CroneTimes will be a part of the membership package or may be purchased by subscription if you do not wish to become a member. This was a very difficult decision as we have from the beginning sent CroneTimes to every woman who has ever attended a gathering. In doing so our database has grown quite sizeable and the cost of printing and mailing has risen to a point that we must now consider the expenses.

We will continue to send out post cards and e-mails to our entire database to keep all of you informed of what is going on with Crones Counsel. Our intent is not to shut out anyone, but rather to be fiscally responsible with your monies.

Our goal is to return as much of your money to you in services at our gatherings. We are making rooms available to assist women who need assistance. We are holding our registration fees low to make attending more affordable. We are returning to Asilomar in 2007 where meals will be included in room rates, which are comparable to or lower than most hotels.

You may become a member by sending your check to: Crones Counsel, Inc., P.O. Box 485, Ekalaka, MT 59324.

CRONE MARKETPLACE
CC XIV

Formerly known as the Vendor Room, our Crone Marketplace will be filled with wonderful wares.

Here's a great opportunity to share your magic with receptive Crones who gladly support you.

If you are registered for CC XIV and wish to sell your own creations, contact Patricia Weller, druidwoman@aol.com, P.O. Box 595, Paonia, CO 81428, or call her 970/527-5421 for more information. [Note address change.]

The deadline for submitting applications to be a vendor for CC XIV is AUGUST 15, 2006.

Membership

At the current time Crones Counsel, Inc. has a paid membership of 110 wise and wonderful women. The Board would like to express our thanks to each of you who are supporting the organization through your membership dues.

Membership dues are annual and have been arranged so that it will be easy to renew at the annual gatherings. Membership runs from October 1 of the current year to November 30 of the following year. Dues are $35.00 per year or $20.00 a year for elders 80 and over. For that fee you will receive your membership card, a subscription to CroneTimes and $10.00 off your registration fee for the gatherings.

The Board is making every effort to use your monies wisely and expand the possibilities of attending our annual gatherings to our sisters who need a little financial assistance.

This year, in Boulder, the Board is making available two rooms at no cost to those in the rooms. This idea was born in Las Vegas where the hosting committee made a room available to elders. The Board liked this idea so much that we are going to do it again with an additional room. We will be able to house four women who need assistance in attending. The only requirement will be need and the rooms will be designated based on eldest first.

If you need assistance with your room fees and are planning to room with someone who doesn't need assistance, then your portion of the room will be covered by Crones Counsel and your roommate will pay her portion. Otherwise you will be paired up with another woman who also needs assistance. Your names will be held in confidence and will not be made public.

Anyone who would benefit from this new program may contact Arlene Madsen at 816/330-4045 or e-mail asmadsen@earthlink.net.

DEEPEN YOUR EXPERIENCE OF CRONE THROUGH SERVICE

What makes any volunteer organization work are those who volunteer their talents and time to make it so.

Crones Counsel, Inc., is no different. Is it time for you to volunteer to assure that there is a tomorrow for CC? This is a working Board. Being a Board Member means taking responsibility for a specific task and working with the other Board members to insure that Crones Counsel Gatherings are joyful experiences for the participants. Do you have some accounting skills, understand the world of the web, excel skills, or the best yet, the willingness to learn these arts? Arts? Yes, for each person contributes her talent to create the outcome — Crones Counsel, Inc.

A Call for Workshop Presenters for CC XIV

Workshops are an important part of every Crones Counsel. This year, as in the past, we are requesting volunteers to increase our workshop choices. Here are some ideas we'd like you to consider: health and aging, mask making, meditation, pagan practices relevant today, the grandmother role, coping with menopause, sexuality and the older woman, coping with limited finances, herbal wisdom, cooperative living, beads and jewelry, starting a crone circle. Let's hear from you.

We know that many of you have interests, hobbies, insights, creative projects that you could share with the rest of us but are hesitant to volunteer. Not to worry. We love sharing with each other, and workshops are an excellent place to do that. Contact Carol Friedrich at cdotfried@earthlink.net or 303/373-5135 to indicate your interest or for more information. (Note: active workshops such as yoga and dance have already been submitted.) Deadline for applications is August 15, 2006. All presenters will be notified of the final schedule shortly after that.
Anyone You Recognize?

I have always dreaded old age. I cannot imagine anything worse than being old... How awful it must be to have nothing to do all day long but stare at the walls or watch TV.

So last week, when the President suggested we all celebrate Senior Citizen Week by cheering up a senior citizen, I decided to do just that. I would call on my new neighbor, an elderly retired gentleman, recently widowed, and who, I presumed, had moved in with his married daughter because he was too old to take care of himself.

I baked a batch of cookies, and, without bothering to call (some old people cannot hear the phone), I went off to brighten this old guy’s day. When I rang the doorbell this “old guy” came to the door dressed in tennis shorts and a polo shirt, looking about as ancient and decrepit as Donny Osmond.

“I’m sorry I can’t invite you in,” he said when I introduced myself, “but I’m due at the Racquet Club at two. I’m playing in the semifinals today.”

“Oh that’s all right,” I said. “I baked you some cookies ...”

“Great!” he interrupted, snatching the box. “Just what I need for bridge club tomorrow! Thanks so much!”

I continued, “... and just thought we’d visit a while. But that’s okay! I’ll just trot across the street and call on Granny Grady.”

“Don’t bother,” he said. “Gran’s not home; I know. I just called to remind her of our date to go dancing tonight. She may be at the beauty shop. She mentioned at breakfast (at which house??!) that she had an appointment for a tint job.”

So I went home and called my mother’s cousin (age 83); she was in the hospital ... working in the gift shop.

I called my aunt (age 74); but she’s on vacation in China.

I called my husband’s uncle (age 79). I forgot ... he was on his honeymoon.

So now I dread Old Age more than ever. I don’t think I’m up to it.

Who Are We?

CRONES COUNSEL, INC., is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to honoring and celebrating the lives of older women. We use the word Crone to refer to and reclaim the original meaning of the term: A Crone is an elder woman who embodies wisdom, one who embraces both the light and the dark sides of her life. At our national gatherings, we conduct workshops, exchange information, and enjoy singing, dancing, and drumming. As we listen to each other’s stories, we share laughter and tears, always honoring one another, especially the eldest in our midst. As a result, we are able to go out into the world with more power, knowledge, and energy for the paths that lie ahead.

“I can hardly believe these individuals get up in front of a group of hundreds of women, take a microphone, and speak candidly and extemporaneously. Before too long, I realize how this happens. There is an amazing overall atmosphere of love and acceptance.”
